

Legality still matters. So basically yeah, what letters from Oklahoma? I was at that Grady County facility twice. When I left in August to go to Chicago, there was absolutely an officer there who asked me "How did you get in with Hamar?" Obviously I don't know Hamar, but you all know why he'd ask me that. So... who is he talking to? I did not spend my life lying. He absolutely did ask me that.

So while I continue to visualize the day when somebody from a disenfranchised background such as myself can come into a grand court like this and make much happier arrangements I will write about later in this letter, legality still matters. So I will tell you about my intentions to sit in silence and Plead The Fifth if you seriously think I am going to answer to yet another psychiatric interrogation. That way it will really be an illegitimate diagnosis. So don't even ~~write~~ ^{write} your own time appointing one. I guess it's time to begin filing a "criminal summons" (as I was finally told they were called) to sue Michael the prosecutor for violating a rule I learned in Chicago from one of Judge Kendall's embeyment defendants called "Rule 32" requiring a sentencing without an inordinate delay. I will drop the lawsuit once I am "sent on my merry way". I am going to repeat myself when I say you cannot send a defendant to a federal medical center unsentenced and more than 500 miles from their home so give it up. It is clearly time for me to start finding help in hiring Richard J. Fine for his U.S. Supreme Court services. I told someone in Chicago facing 195 years for gun charges about him and his family only paid him $5000 to go to his Dec. 6th court hearing to see if it's time for the U.S. Supreme Court ~~to~~ pick it up from there unsentenced. Fascinating that a U.S. Supreme Court lawyer known for getting federal judges removed from their positions is cheaper than the Buffalo district court lawyers.

So there's the legal options we all have at the moment. Whatever further legal subsections you all think are currently standing in the way to ending this, you are all one degree away from whatever congressional judicial subcommittee that may exist to getting it repealed and replaced. No need for this court to act just as disenfranchised as the Libertarian party did since its formation in the 1970s. It's post-Election time and that's always when they touch the sensitive criminal justice reform topics. So go get it done. Also might I add which I forgot earlier, it's time for me to press charges on "whoever" got my 2019 Ford Fusion hybrid rep'd at Professional Recovery in 2022 along with my Wells Fargo paperwork I never signed over to anybody while at Niagara County Jail. She could get sentenced to all house arrest time and I'd be fine with that. 2024 has been the ugliest of these 3 years, so I'm not hesitating anymore.

I left Ohio for court with someone else facing this same court concerning a 13 year old situation where he embezzled around $50,000 of union treasury money because he couldn't afford medical treatment of a certain kind he wanted. He said his probation officer trapped him by telling him to go to the hospital for treatment he absolutely wanted, but when he showed up there they were to arrest him. He told me Tronda Kubiak is his attorney and that she didn't meet with him before court for papers she eventually handed him under the table. He told me he doesn't think this court cares that he's held a gun to his head due to still being held over a 13 year old situation concerning $50,000.

I told him if probation lied to you by trapping you into going to the hospital for treatment you wanted, probation would probably lie to and trap a pregnant woman giving birth. Brings me back to an inmate I met at Orleans County Jail named Jon De Jesus who was a corrections officer who raped a female inmate.

I remember hearing on the radio in Chicago about people who did 20 years for murder they suddenly claim they're innocent to who are then owed a $1 million wrongful incarceration check for. A black person from Oklahoma I saw on tv in Orleans County did 48 years and suddenly he's innocent. So who was present for an email paperwork says I sent on 1/24/22? This is why it's time to start Pleading ②

The Fifth with any potential future psychiatric interrogations, as well as following through on everything else I said I'd do earlier until Rule 37 happens.

I can't believe I just dedicated an entire paper and then some to "legalities". No I do not "find things funny", if my words are used to make people fight then I must feel cornered into a certain situation where I have to demand attention.

Remember [redacted] of Baltimore M.D.? Is that him connected to the recent police report on my house filed by my grandmother?

For fuck sakes, you all get it. I'm done writing like this to the human beings with feelings that even matter to me believe it or not I see right in the court even as I don't have glasses or contacts in my eyes since spring. Police officers don't become police officers to repeat the Nazis, lawyers don't become lawyers to figure out the legalization of cannibalism, and judges don't become judges so they can sit at the front entrance of the Robert H. Jackson U.S. Courthouse playing Dracula pipe organ music with thunder and lightning in the background. I recognize the legal requirements you all had for these circumstances, but this came with drama and fighting.

I sensed undertones at the last court hearing. As if we are all desperate for happier face to face dialogue. "The blueprints to the replacement for interstate threats and cyberstalking". It takes Alfred University and Siemens Dresser Rand to make that happen. March speed is not space age territory, I'll put it that way. I don't have copyright patent paperwork readily available to guarantee my father the Vice President of Manufacturing position I wanted contracted for him right in this courtroom to produce the replacement to interstate threats or cyberstalking.

"I'd like to send you on your merry way but but but" all because I am competent and constantly say things on the phone concerning a few mysterious relatives of somebody who do things allowed in Amsterdam. All you people have to do is issue a subpoena to me forever so we can answer questions concerning who is sending who a bag of dicks in the mail once I am "sent on my merry way". Chelsea Manning was "sent on her merry way" in 2017 after a commute from Obama and then in 2019 refused a subpoena to answer questions about Edward Snowden. You people owe me (9) legal arrangements for Uber and Lyft's successor in N.Y. I owe Mr.  himself help introducing him to Dymnie Watt of Salamanca so his relatives can have first come first serve at casinos executive-style positions at a way too possible legal occurrence right in Salamanca where federal law comes to a default. I don't want his relatives to deal with the shit I did being locked in a room for 4 days with El Chapo's miserable third cousin when I was simply there for a basic competency report. It ain't gonna take a subpoena to get me to show up again because like car insurance, like annual dentist appointments, this disaster has me plotting to prevent it again. Oh yes I regret my one week of presence at the George Floyd protests I know my part in owning up. Olean Police and F.B.I. lied to me to do this to me though, "Come help with your neighbor". Nope there they are to get me. Law enforcement should not be allowed to lie to or mislead U.S. citizens. Again, you people are not the disenfranchised Libertarian Party, getting a law like that passed is not a fairy tale. Yes hello, a possible thanks you for the starkurist and water bottle I noticed in front of me but I wasn't sure if it was for me so I wasn't sure if I should have touched it. Yes hello everybody, John's relatives don't deserve this shit. I remember hearing about Waleed Abughanem's old lawyer, George Borrella's mother died in 2021, I am sensitive to people's personal details when I'm not screaming in writing about having a pencil held to my face in Chicago. No I'm not going to shit in a brown paper bag and set it on fire on everyone's front door step as payback for these 3 years once I am "sent on my merry way". You all recognize the unique era this infraction happened in. It's the American Magna Carta years, it's the American Oliver Cromwell years. We are all demanding better legal arrangements. I want a law passed saying law enforcement can't lie to or mislead U.S. citizens on duty like it's the new Miranda Rights, Waleed Abughanem's old lawyer wants D.M.T. and hookers, Trump wants to abolish conspiracy charges, mandatory minimums, camps like the one in Bradford P.A., taxes on working overtime, etc. Let us bring our legal complaints to the table while we are able. Time for post-21st century Civil War Reconstruction. Please push my cousin/Katie's ex-Facebook fling  friend Carl Paladino for Ambassador to Brazil where
